ABSTRACT

A feedback process for providing feedback for unrecognized speech includes a speech input process for receiving a speech command as spoken by a user. An unrecognized speech comparison process, responsive to the speech input process, compares the user's speech command to a plurality of recognized speech commands available in a speech library to determine if the user's speech command is unrecognized speech, as opposed to non-speech.

20183235